When I Was Raped - OZY | A Modern Media Company

To be raped is one the most horrifying experiences, especially for an already confused fourteen year old. After the rape my brain shut down. I felt numb, I felt like a shell. All my feelings – the hurt, shame, anger, guilt, sadness, and confusion were all locked away. I felt like I was seeing myself as an outsider.

Reaching Out - A Fourteen Year Old Rape Victim Shares Her ...

There was no reason for my fear, I had never been raped, never been mugged, yet I still feared it. I was heading back to my flat after a rather wild party, and though I was exhausted from the dancing and boozing I still felt exhilarated. I hadn't drunk much, yet I still felt slightly tipsy, and my head felt kind of dizzy.
